Lexa looked so different and yet so similar. She rose steadily from her throne. Neither paint nor blood marred her face.

"I request sanctuary and protection, Heda." The words tasted like blood and betrayal on her tongue. Clarke forced herself to dip her head towards Lexa ever so slightly.

If Lexa was surprised by Clarke's request, she did not show it. She remained impassive as she spoke, "I offer you sanctuary and protection, Klark kom Skaikru." Her voice did not catch like it had in front of the mountain.

Lexa is the captain of the soccer team at Grounder High, favored and adored by all but her eyes are focused on just one. Clarke Griffin transferred from Mount Weather and it was love at first sight.

But for some it was hate. Hate at first sight, hate for her blue eyes and blonde hair on the one person she let slip through her fingers. Costia will not accept being dumped.

Raven, Anya and Indra are the leaders of Kit Kru, Ark City's notorious founders of Thrash or Cash battle of the bands. It's the biggest event of the year where Rivals: Grounder High and Mount Weather come together for great music and booze. The event grew beyond high school attendees and is known for attracting all colors and creeds.

But not all is well as it seems in Ark City. It seems all lights and glamour on the surface but if you were really looking, like if you really paid attention you could see the darkness looming below the streets. Gangs running the current of the city, Money flowing from one end to the other never seeing the legal light of day and drugs jumping from pocket to pocket finding their way into virgin hands only to turn them idle for devil's play.
